Corporate volunteering

Many Tasmanian organisations and businesses are supporting their staff to do volunteering work in the community during their paid working hours.

Why do it?

- 1 A stronger culture by cutting through 'silos' and encouraging teamwork
- 2 Positive growth of the brand and reputation of the organisation in the wider community
- 3 Improved employee engagement
- 4 Higher employee job satisfaction
- 5 Employee personal development through 'real world' experiences
- 6 Cost effective training and development
- 7 Recruitment advantages in a competitive marketplace – particularly for younger employees seeking roles with a social purpose
- 8 Better employee retention rates
